We would like to issue a special invitation to you and your foster family to attend an evening of delicious milkshakes and spectacular scientific fun at a special museum opening just for you!

The Launchpad is packed with over 50 interactive exhibits, plus electrifying shows and lively demos, all from the wonderful world of physics. Launchpad is all about asking questions and making sense of the way things work. What am I looking at? What would happen if...? Ask your foster carer, your social worker and your teacher to come along with you, have some fun and learn together about the amazing world around us.

You will also be given a £25 gift voucher to spend in the marvellous Science Museum Shop and may even have the chance to meet some very special guests.
