

Covid-19 Leadership Support

In addition to our larger “classic” programmes <https://afaeducation.org/coaching-programmes/> Achievement for All offers a new range of tightly focussed and responsive packages for schools to address the key professional development imperatives facing education settings today.

Staff training and professional development at a time of crisis can be an immense challenge for hard-pressed school and college leaders, and early years setting managers. Let Achievement for All take the strain - we are in this together.

In response to the day-to-day challenges that you and your teams are facing, Achievement for All would like to offer a series of targeted affordable CPD packages that will help you address the key issues emerging from "restarting" your learning communities.

An Achievement Coach will be assigned to work with and beside you for the equivalent of three or six half-day visits to introduce, embed and sustain school improvement. All staff will be given access to The Achievement for All Bubble for twelve months, an online portal with a full range of CPD material to support blended learning (all staff, small groups, coaching sessions, and individual study).

These resources are all available 24/7 on-line and so staff who have to continue to self-isolate can have full access and learning support.

Re-engaging hard-to-reach families

[3 face to face visits or online blended learning- £1400 plus VAT. 6 face to face visits or online blended learning £2700 plus VAT]

Built around our highly successful and award-winning Structured Conversations approach (and, for early years settings, Taking Time for Talk), settings will be given full access to all the training materials to review current practice, rapidly develop a training plan and immediately improve practice. The impact can be significant.

Wellbeing at the Heart of Learning

[3 face to face visits or online blended learning £1400 plus VAT. 6 face to face visits or online blended learning £2700 plus VAT]

Our Achieving Wellbeing Programme is a comprehensive package aimed at securing better education outcomes through staff and learner wellbeing. This CPD package enables a school to choose a specific aspect of our trauma-informed development package, updated specifically to address emerging Covid-19 issues and challenges.

Digital Literacy - new ideas and new solutions

[3 face to face visits or online blended learning £1400 plus VAT. 6 face to face visits or online blended learning £2700 plus VAT]

We have worked incredibly closely with the tech giants to explore the range of available social and assistive technologies, many that are absolutely free to access and use, that could instantly transform communication with hard-to-reach children and families (new migrants, EAL, SEN, SLCN and parents/carers with low literacy levels), planning and seamlessly blending learning within and beyond the classroom, to address a "new normal".

This training package is designed to stimulate creative thinking and rapidly upskill staff regardless of the tech platform operated by the education setting, in line with the "remote learning" preparation for all staff demanded by government policy for September 2020.

Close the gap

[3 face to face visits or online blended learning £1400 plus VAT. 6 face to face visits or online blended learning £2700 plus VAT]

Many of the most vulnerable and disadvantaged children and young people in your school, college and setting community are in danger of slipping further behind due to the consequences of lock-down and a detachment from the stability of the school community. Following a rapid needs analysis our Achievement Coach will be able to guide you to specific materials approaches and resources that will help, focussing on literacy, numeracy, more effective feedback, and more.
